RAPE AGGRESSION DEFENSE CLASSES

~ Captain Nichol Bleichner, ISU Police

In November 2010, the University Police Department began teaching R.A.D., Rape Aggression Defense for women, to female students, faculty and staff members. “The primary focus of the program is the realistic development of self-defense options for women, before and during situations of imminent or actual abductive assault.” The program is designed to give opportunities for women to realize their inner power and strength through self-defense, and its great exercise too. This program is FREE and participants will be required to attend and complete 9-12 hours of training.

The next session will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays starting September 6 through September 22. Applications are available on-line at the ISU R.A.D. website (www.RAD.ilstu.edu). Spaces are limited to 30 students; class times and location will be sent in a confirmation email to participants. We encourage past participants to attend as well. Hope to see you there!
